A medical center held a yearly recruitment fair for their College of Nursing and Health Professions program. The director wanted to attract more potential students to their booth using a giveaway. If the attendee watched a video about the program, they were given the VT7901 Big MagneticMark Bookmark. The bookmark was customized for the medical center with the nursing school calendar, and admissions and financial aid contact information. It was a huge success. They saw 18% more visitors in their booth than the previous year.
