All Luxor products are inspected carefully and shipped in packaging which has been tested and approved by the Motor Freight Carriers Association.

If damage in transit occurs, it is generally the motor carrier's responsibility and must be reported promptly. Failure to report freight damage make any loss the consignee's responsibility.

Luxor will assist in pursuit of freight claims. However, you or your customers must do the following:

1. Do not sign "clear" for a shipment when there is any noticeable damage to the cartons or to the product. Visible damage must be noted on the carrier's bill of lading before signing. Failure to do this negates the possibility of claim.
2. Inspect all shipments immediately for concealed damage. If there is concealed damage, contact the carrier and request a Damage Inspection. This must be done within 15 days of delivery. Failure to report concealed damage within 15 days also negates the possibility of claim.

"Concealed Damage" - Concealed damage occurs when a product is damaged even though the carton appears to be in good condition. This kind of damage occurs occasionally. It is the motor carrier's responsibility and must be reported promptly.
