"Silver Thread Fluorocarbon is the most incredible line I've ever used. It is ridiculous how good it is. When you catch 30 pounds and you don't even re-tie and your line isn't frayed or nicked...that's incredible! I've never seen a fishing line like that."

Zell Rowland, Bassmaster Elite Series pro

VIRTUALLY INVISIBLE UNDERWATER FLUOROCARBON

Silver Thread Fluorocarbon is virtually invisible under water but has excellent visibility above the water. Fluorocarbon material is very abrasion-resistant and possesses great strength qualities. This product can be used where maximum strength is needed, but visibility must be kept to a minimum. Excellent as a leader on a Carolina rig or braided line leader when flipping or pitching in clear water, Fluorocarbon gives you sensitivity and low-stretch features not found in monofilament lines.

At Silver Thread, we continually strive to push the envelope. In 1985, we introduced copolymer fishing line to the world. Copolymer fishing lines set the standard for abrasion resistance, small diameter, great knot strength and superior casting that common monofilaments just can't measure up to. What makes copolymer fishing line special? The copolymerization process. Combining several nylon monomers creates a stronger, more stable fishing line with a smaller diameter. Over the years, several new formulas have been introduced. Our technology and the drive to produce the best possible products set us apart from the competition. Please enjoy your time on the water, and make Silver Thread the choice for each of your fishing experiences.

Silver Thread AN40 was developed with the stealth approach in mind. Designed with an incredibly small diameter, this line can really cover the distance. The AN40 formula is very limp and supple, making it a favorite among fishermen. If you require long casts and low underwater visibility to get close to the fish, look no further than AN40. Available in original silver and low-visibility green.

Silver Thread®

When I'm guiding, we're constantly putting jigs into the thickest, gnarliest stuff imaginable, and my clients never lose fish due to line failure. Silver Thread is by far the most abrasion resistant line I have ever used.

Todd Huckabee,
Professional Crappie Angler and Guide

Super Silver Thread was designed to be a high-quality all-around fishing line. With excellent knot strength, abrasion resistance and a small diameter, this line can be used anywhere for any species of fish. Copolymer technology makes this line very easy to cast due to the consistency of diameter throughout the entire spool of line. No matter what your underwater prey, Super Silver Thread is a good choice to take along on your next fishing adventure.

Silver Thread[®]

"Silver Thread Trout is the best line I've used when fishing the quick currents because its low-stretch allows me to set the hook quickly."

Jeff Samsel, expert trout angler

Trout

Silver Thread Trout Line was designed to complement the newest trout fishing techniques used today. When bait fishing for trout, you need a thin line for a drag free drift, as well as supreme sensitivity for the lightest strike. It's got to have low-stretch qualities to set the hook quickly and efficiently in moving water. Silver Thread Trout Line possesses the same small-diameter high-strength ratio that made us famous in a green, low-stretch formula designed specifically for trout. Available in 1 pound increments to fit any trout fishing situation. An excellent leader material for fly fisherman.
